Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 06 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry with sunny spells today. Very cold overnight.

Today:
A largely dry day with sunny spells in the afternoon, though eastern areas may see a few, potentially wintry, showers at times. There is a risk of icy conditions during the morning. Feeling cold, with light winds. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry and mostly cloudy overnight, though there will be occasional clear spells. Very cold temperatures are likely, bringing a risk of freezing fog patches and icy conditions. Light winds. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Thursday:
A largely dry day again, with sunny spells. Cloud will move in from the north during the late afternoon, possibly bringing patchy rain with it. Cold and icy again overnight. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
A few outbreaks of rain, sleet and snow on Friday, then drier on Saturday. Staying cold both days, with sunny spells and overnight frosts. Cloudy and milder on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.